Kathrine Switzer: The Marathon Woman

續接第三頁試題

The Boston Marathon is the oldest city marathon in the world. It was held for the first time in 1897. However, running, especially long distances, appeared to be a man's sport then. A 19-year-old university student, Kathrine Switzer, 34, was the first woman to join in the Boston Marathon in 1967. On the race day, other runners, all of them men, welcomed her, except the race guide Jock Semple, who pushed Switzer out of the race. Luckily, the runners around Switzer helped her continue running and complete her first marathon. 35. She tried harder to open up the path for women to run the Marathon. Finally, women were not only officially welcomed to run the Boston Marathon by 1972 36 included in the 1984 Olympic Marathon.

There are more old pets than ever before in Japan.
37 pets live longer, families are now looking for better elderly care. These owners say, “Think of 38 and how you’d like to be treated when you’re old.” In Japan, 39 is common that people always buy pet clothes and give other special treatments for pets.

For example, Lucky, Hisashi's pet dog, is nearly 18 years old. It's difficult for him to walk short distances and get in the car or roll over in his dog bed. Hisashi said, "We have to take care of him like we do to our elderly." So Lucky gets water therapy treatments once a week, even floating on his back to relax. It's followed by a water massage. All of Lucky's care 40 more than US$500 a month.

With the fine care, the older pets are living the good life. So it's not really cheap to keep pet dogs.

I.

The solar system is made up of the sun and all the objects that orbit it. This includes planets and asteroids. The sun is the center of the system and far larger than any of the planets.

The planets are divided into two groups: the inner planets which are closer to the sun and the outer planets which are farther from the sun. The four inner planets are Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars. They usually look smaller and all have rocky surfaces. The outer planets are Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. They are all big and mostly made up of gases.

How about the asteroids? The asteroid belt just lies between the inner and the outer planets.

What do you stick on the envelope before mailing?
Sure, they're stamps! Do you know that the thin and small pieces of paper have great power? They're traveling storytellers. They can tell you about animals, plants, famous people, history, art, and so on. People can gain lots of knowledge by collecting stamps.

Stamps tell stories through the pictures on them. A stamp from Taiwan may have a picture of a special person, and we can learn about the history, customs and life from him or her. Another stamp might show a picture of a traditional Taiwanese puppet. From these little pictures, people all around the world would see how great Taiwan is.

Stamps can also be good history teachers. They tell you how people dressed or how old the painting looked. Best of all, they travel many places to tell these stories. People of different countries can show each other their feelings and memories by the little cute stamps.
